The theme of the conference is on Advanced Computing in Asian Century and Managing Business in the Asian Century. Advance Computing enlightens the power of integrated software, systems and support. It's about empowering businesses, organisations and users to achieve more. This allows to understand needs of client, committing to the task and delivering the best solution through information technology to client and society.

The Asian Century scenario extends Asia's past success into the future, putting it on the cusp of a historic transformation. It assumes that Asian economies can maintain their momentum for another 40 years and adapt to the shifting global economic and technological environment by continually recreating their comparative advantages. World Bank estimate as regards Asia's GDP (at market exchange rates) would increase from $17 trillion in 2010 to $174 trillion in 2050, or half of global GDP, similar to its share of the global population. Seven economies would lead Asia's march to prosperity, including India. The goal of the conference is to stimulate and disseminate new research on the above mentioned theme.

NCMAT 2017

The conference is aimed at senior researchers, academicians, policy makers, top business leaders and key opinion makers within Asia to help forge a consensus on a vision of and strategy for Asia's potentially historic rise among the global community of nations between now and 2050. The study offers a long-term perspective of the Asia region as a whole as opposed to the more common approach that delivers a short- to medium-term perspective of selected countries, sub regions or issues.
